"For I Was Hungry..."

FOOD FOR THE NEEDY was collected this week by the Sodality. Here Ralph Lach accepts donations from Fred Toppi and Jim Braham.

Sodality Prepares Christmas Baskets

BY RICHARD MUSIL

Furthering the Christmas spirit of giving, the Sodality is again sponsoring its annual Christmas Basket Drive which provides baskets of food for some 60 needy families throughout the city. The drive opened Monday, Dec. 10, with the collection of canned foods in front of the Cafeteria and the soliciting of neighborhood merchants.

Rifle Teams Start Firing

John Carroll's two ROTC rifle teams have begun practice in earnest for their 1952 season. Firing for the Hearst National Matches, first tournament of the year, must be completed by Jan. 12.

Only 22 of the more than 70 applicants are still in contention for the 10 berths on each team. The others were eliminated in the try-outs which have been under way since Nov. 16.

Sgt. Edward D. Purcell, rifle team coach, expects this year's teams to better the record made in their first season, when they finished 67th and 71st in the Second Army area. A total of 22 matches, mostly postal matches, is scheduled.

Stredelman Named Athletic Dept. Aid

Herb Eisele, John Carroll's Athletic Director, today announced the appointment of William Stredelman as Executive Assistant Athletic Director, filling a newly created post in the University's athletic department. He will begin his duties immediately.

Stredelman is a 1950 graduate of Carroll, and for the past two years has held the post of Athletic Publicity Director in the University. During his final academic year at John Carroll, he held a part-time position in the same capacity.

Assumes New Duties

Although his primary duty will still be that of publicity, the new executive will assume some of the administrative work of the athletic department, be responsible for the promotion of all of Carroll's sports events, and will also

Rifles Seek Charter

The John Carroll unit of the Pershing Rifles will be seeking a charter in the national organization when it is inspected by officers from regimental headquarters located at Ohio State University early next month. The inspection is tentatively scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 5, on the Carroll campus, according to moderator Sgt. Francis R. Teach. Cadet Capt. Ralph E. Shattuck is student commanding officer of the two-month-old organization.

Junior Dance Scheduled For Hollenden Ballroom Jan. 12

Capers Cut By Students Help NFCCS

BY TERRY BROCK

The fifth annual Campus Capers swept across a colorful stage in the John Carroll auditorium. "The Dancing Dan of Vaudeville," an original script by Marvin Heier, Carroll senior, was greeted enthusiastically Saturday, Dec. 8, and Sunday, Dec. 9. Highlights of the show were the guest-star appearances of Jeri Southern and Buddy Greco, well known night club entertainers.

The show was presented through the combined efforts of students from Notre Dame and Ursuline Colleges and John Carroll University. The proceeds from the show will go directly to the Social Service Clubs of these colleges to provide entertainment and Christmas gifts for hospitals, charitable organizations, and veteran organizations in the Greater Cleveland area.

Wiener and Breiner Directors. Raymond Wiener was director of dialogue, and Robert Breiner acted as director of music. Jack Killeen was business manager. Acting in the show were William Hussey as Mr. Goldstein; Robert Curry as Dan; Raymond Hills as young Dan; Francis Cacerone as Martin; Jean Schatzel as Adele; Jack Killeen as Harry; Laetitia Maher as Sherran; Noreen McHughes as Sally; Sarah Moll as Marilyn; William Schneider as Eddie; and Robert Vidrick as the Baron.

Special attractions were a soft shoe dance by John Burke and Joan Cronin, and several styled songs by Jeff Hewitt. The show, which featured the finest of Carroll's talent, contained 21 old and new stock numbers, and two originals by author Heier.

"The Dancing Dan of Vaudeville," the story of a prominent stage star and the lives of his associates, drew a two-night total attendance of 775, one of the largest in the history of the Campus Capers.

Xmas Party Helps Poor

The annual Christmas Party was held in the John Carroll Auditorium on Tuesday night, Dec. 11. Sponsored by the Boosters Club and the Sodality, this social was conducted in conjunction with the Sodality food drive and the NFCCS Overseas Service Program fund drive. The admission was set at $5.00 and a can of food.

About 150 attended — most of these students from St. John's College, Notre Dame, Ursuline and John Carroll. The guests danced to the music of Bob Breiner's Orchestra which participated in the recent Campus Capers. In addition, those in attendance were entertained by several variety acts, some of them repeats from the Campus Capers. Dancing was held from 8:30 till 12.

Judo Demonstrated

Ted Galaida, director of the John Carroll University Judo Club, reports that his organization may sponsor a judo exhibition in the next month. The exhibition would consist of a match featuring Galaida and a demonstration of unarmed self defense and hand-to-hand combat by the 32 members of the club. Galaida, who taught physical education to over 50,000 men in the navy, has been approached by the National Guard, which is interested in a judo program similar to the one offered Carroll men.

The President's Christmas Message

With a spirit of deep gratitude, I extend to all of you—students, staff, alumni, and benefactors—the warmest greetings of the Christmas season. To my greetings I add the prayer that the blessings of God's divine goodness will be richly renewed for each one of you and your families on this feast of love and good will.

May all that Christmas means—its joy, and cheer, and holy peace—be yours abundantly at this holy season and remain to bless your days in the new year with good health, good fortune, and all the spiritual fruits a kindly Providence can bestow.

—The Very Rev. Frederick E. Welfle, S.J.

Carroll Telecasts Christmas Mass

By DONALD LUBECKI and FRED FISHER

The Christmas Mass will be demonstrated, translated, and explained as the feature of the second broadcast of John Carroll University's television series over Station WEWS, Channel 5, on Sunday, Dec. 23, at 6:30 p.m.

This program, which will feature a representation and explanation of the Mass, will have as its purpose an emphasis of true Christmas spirit. By a running commentary on the rituals of the Mass and their significance, it will attempt to refocus the Christmas spotlight upon Christ and the Mass.

Principals in the ceremony will be the Rev. Herman Hughes, S.J., professor of philosophy, demonstrator; the Rev. Henry Birkenhauer, dean of the Graduate Division, translator; and the Very Rev. Frederick E. Welfle, S.J., president of the University, commentator.

According to Father Birkenhauer, the ceremony is very difficult to present because of the co-ordinating of actual prayers, translations, and explanations through three different microphones at the proper time. It is the first endeavor of its type in this area.

The sound track of this production will consist of three voice levels; the English translation will be maintained throughout the entire Mass, while the Latin prayers and the commentary will be concerned only with the more important parts of the Mass.

Originates From Studio

The idea of using a religious theme for the Christmas program was not accidental. Christmas in its old meaning of "Christ's Mass" is the University's attempt to stress the religious significance of the feast as its true denotation and connotation.

The Third Mass, which is a Low Mass, will be enacted. No incantation or choral music will be used. In January, the Carroll ROTC unit will be featured. Theme of the program will be "ROTC Preparation for Defense and Training for Peace."

Orrin Ide Signed To Provide Music

Orrin Ide and his Orchestra will supply the music at the Junior Dance in the Main Ballroom of the Hollenden Hotel, Saturday, January 12. The dancing begins at 9 p.m., and will last until 1 a.m.

Either a dress suit or a tuxedo may be worn at the affair which is a major project of the Junior Class. Bids for the occasion are to be priced at approximately $3.00.

Patrick Molohan and John Beringer are serving as Co-Chairmen of the dance committee. Assisting them in the preparations for the event are Harold Traverso, Robert Rourke, Joseph Johnson, Robert Vidrick, Thomas Stock, and James Porter.

Ide's aggregation has been the House band for the Aragon Ballroom for the past three years.

WRU Hosts Ohio Debate

Six Carroll debate students participated in the annual Northeastern Ohio Novice tournament held at Western Reserve University last Saturday, Dec. 8.

The debate topic was: "Resolved: That the United States Adopt a Permanent Policy of Price and Wage Control."

John Burke and William Sweeney represented the affirmative team. The negative side was comprised of Robert Monroe and Fred Fisher on one team and Donald Richards paired with William Ehrbar on the other. The negatives alternated for each debate.

Burke and Sweeney won two of three debates while the negative teams lost their three matches. Mr. Vincent S. Klein, director of the Debating Society, acted as one of the judges.

The next participation of the debating team will be at the annual Northeastern Ohio Novice Assembly at Oberlin College on Jan. 12, 1952.

Deferments Voided

All military science deferments granted prior to this semester have been voided by the Universal Military Training and Service Act. This act increases the length of time an ROTC-deferred cadet is subject to call from five to eight years, but provides that a reservist may not be held longer than two years in active service unless Congress declares a state of emergency. Any student who has previously signed a deferment and who has not as yet re-signed it should contact the Military Science department as soon as possible.

Nite Sodality Begins Here

A group of approximately twenty students of the Evening Division have begun the initial phases of starting a section of the Sodality for the evening students. The period of inspection, interviews, study and discussion began Dec. 2. The aim of the group is to have a working and full-fledged unit of John Carroll's Sodality functioning in the Evening Division by the end of March.

The group has been meeting Sunday afternoons in the President's Parlor. The Rev. James J. McQuade, S.J., director of Sodality at John Carroll, is in charge of the organization. He is assisted by the Rev. Henry F. Birkenhauer, S.J.

Miss Terry Olatta, a member of the Alumni Sodality, is acting as contact for her group of Sodality in the help they are giving in the formation of the new division of the Sodality. James Deering, a Carroll graduate, is in charge of the interviews.

Streaks Honored

The John Carroll Blue Streaks were feted at the annual Football Banquet held Tuesday, Dec. 4, in a ballroom of the Hollenden Hotel.

Halfback Burrell Shields was named "Player of the Year" for his outstanding performance on the gridiron this past season. Shields, who received his third varsity letter, was also chosen as honorary captain for the past season.

Guard John Byrne received the John D. Conner Trophy for the outstanding freshman football player. Guests included members of the football team, Band, Booster Club, and the cheer leaders.

J. Harold Traverso, President of the Alumni Association, was the toastmaster. Guest speakers were the Most Rev. Floyd Begin, Bishop of Cleveland, the Rev. Owen J. Englund, S.J., treasurer of the University and moderator of the Athletics, Donald Miller, the United States District Attorney and Herbert C. Eisele, athletic director and head football coach.

Donors Find Giving Easy

The ease of giving blood came as a pleasant surprise to 143 Carroll students, faculty, and staff members on Nov. 30. The large number of donors, although delaying the Bloodmobile Unit till 5:30 a.m., made the first blood donor's lay at Carroll a success reports Lt. John Ruskell, who heads the Carroll Blood Donor Program.

"We may now look forward to future blood donor programs," Lt. Ruskell points out. "Those who were able to give blood this time will again be able to give in two months, and these combined with the large number of others who will be able to give leaves a large group from which to draw. Those who gave blood this time did a real service to the country and found the donating of blood no real inconvenience, especially balanced against the good result."

ND Presents Plays

NOTRE DAME COLLEGE is presenting two plays this week. Opening last night, the productions will run through Sunday night. Curtain time at 8 p.m. "Riders to the Sea" will bring on stage the entire cast made up of students from Notre Dame. In "Playboy of the Western World" Carroll students Michael Gallagher, Richard Bauhof, Thomas McCarthy, Patrick McCutcheon, and Kevin McDonough are featured in the Irish comedy. Pictured above are Richard Bauhof and Patricia Richardson. Others in the cast are Nancy Walsh, Jane Minch, Patricia Quinn, Fildema Stanton, and Nancy Grey.

Jerry Donatucci, Bernet Barber, Runs Active Hair-Cutting Shop

By BOB HUDDLESTON

Jerry Donatucci is a student specialist. Besides his academic work he is a barber—by appointment only—with a shop in room 227 of Bernet Hall.

He cuts about 20 heads of hair per week, and the waiting list on his door normally carries ten names. When someone is late, he calls the next name on the list. He operates strictly on schedule.

When a customer arrives, Jerry transforms an office chair into a barber's chair by placing a writing board from a desk across the arms. He seats his client on this, garbs him in a sheet, and begins to cut.

Cut Hair in High School

Jerry has five years of tonorial experience. His uncle taught him the trade when he was a student at Cathedral Prep High School in Erie, Pa., his home. He made spending money by cutting his schoolmate's hair, at fifty cents apiece.

He is still in demand when he goes home in the summer. "I guess the neighbors like my haircuts," he says.

The first haircut he gave was a memorable experience for 19-year-old Jerry. "I kept going higher and higher, and it kept looking worse and worse. When the kid found out what was happening, he got up and ran. I had to chase him half a block to finish the job. But he was a regular customer after that."

Will Get License

During the summer vacation he intends to get his barber's license, if he has time. To do this he must spend 1000 hours in school and pass a State examination.

If the barber's college asks for a reference from a member of the clergy, Jerry can name the Rev. William J. Millor, S.J., Bernet Hall prefect as his—for he has cut Fr. Millor's hair.

Jerry is a Freshman in the School of Business, Economics, and Government, and will major in accounting. He plays end on the football team, and is a forward on one of the intramural league basketball teams.

In high school, he was an all-around athlete, coping three letters in football, and two each in basketball, baseball, and tennis. He claims tennis to be his favorite sport. In 1950, he was named end on Erie's All-City football team.

Roommates Get Ideas

His roommates, Dan Boland, Paul Brubeck, and Ed Ruff are already eager to use his tools. One customer who did not know "Mr. Donatucci" was saved from the shears of Paul Brubeck when Jerry walked into the room.

Because of the ROTC and the draft law, his plans for the future are uncertain. His business worries, however, are few. With three avid students ready to take over, he figures only the customer can lose.

Jose Lecuna Acts In Council Movie

Jose Lecuna, of Venezuela, senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, has been participating in a movie being produced by the Council on World Affairs.

The movie concerns two foreign students, an Indian and a Chinese, who attend college in Cleveland. They are entertained by other foreign students from the different colleges and they set about learning how Americans live. In the process, several American customs are depicted, especially those surrounding Christmas.

Final plans have not as yet been made as to whether the movie will be shown in local theaters. It was originally intended as a guide to organizations wishing to start a group connected with the Council.

Smatterings of Schmaltz

BY PAUL MOONEY

I like snow, but this is ridiculous. When the skies started belching the fluffy stuff on these University Heights this week, it turned the White Christmas dream into a howling nightmare. It is rumored that if these snow binges persist, Rex, our retired mascot, will be re-commissioned. The massive St. Bernard will be loaded with a magnum of hopped-up Hadael and sent out around the campus to locate students wallowing in snow drifts. It seems that Rex's taste for the stimulant is working against his being re-activated though.

Another rumor rummaged from Ye Olde Snack Shoppe has it that the Evening Division will come up with a course in Igloo-Building and Snow Shoe Mending next semester, by popular demand. Intramural hockey is being planned with the front drive serving as the playing area. There is the problem of convincing the faculty that their cars clutter up the ice. After the first few games they should come around however. The campus cop was asked to referee the contests but he claims to have lost his skates back in 1913. If any faculty members are free during the day, the group will be obliged if they would offer their services as officials.

NOTE ON JERI

It's too bad the Act of Enclosure Didn't cover the Southern exposure.

Just between You and Moo, there are two Carrollites who recently have taken the school by storm. Their forceful personalities and innate charm has won them praises from all but a few. I see them almost every day, going from table to table in the Cafeteria seeing their many friends, sitting in classrooms attentively listening to the profs, standing in the halls quietly observing the between-class crush, or enjoying a stroll around the campus. They never have a mean word about anybody or anything. In short, they are always pleasant company, even if they have a mooching streak in them.

If you haven't guessed, they are Herman and Coffee, the flopped beagle and rust-colored kitten you have been seeing on campus. Herman, who despite her name, was the mother of pups last month, says that she enjoys the philosophy classes the most. The students are much quieter and she gets a lot more from the class then. Coffee, who acquired her name tag from her insatiable thirst for the much-discussed Cafeteria coffee, finds the biology lab her best class because she sees many of her old friends there.

Now that the Yuletide cheer is being tossed about freely, I think the time has come to make out my Christmas list.

Harry Truman—A record of Buddy Greco's, "I Ran All The Way Home."

Arena referees—Whistles stuffed with mistletoe.

Colonel Moon, the basement janitor—A horn for his push broom.

Marge, the switchboard operator—A reinforced dialing finger.

Carroll Union—Copies of "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

Boosters—Another Symphony Sid.

ROTC—Three shoe shine boys after drill periods.

Weatherman—A lifetime membership to the Optimist's Club.

By the way, the weather forecast is the same today as it was yesterday. "Snow flurries followed by small boys with sleds."

'Pennies From Heaven?'—Not For Penny Pusher Jim Dennis

PART-TIME PENNY PUSHER Jim Dennis and machine cooperate to put pennies in cigarette packages. Jim, a history major, uses his free time to provide cigarette smokers with their three cents' change. His deft fingers handle 2400 pennies each week.

Jim "Red" Dennis, senior history major from Sandusky, has what one might term an "un-usual occupation." Jim is a part-time penny pusher.

During the periods when he is not pursuing Herodotus and Macaulay, Jim is an employee of the Snack Shop. The most interesting—at least to other people—part of his work is inserting pennies into cigarette packs. Into each of the 800 packs of cigarettes that go into Carroll vending machines each week, Jim must slip three pennies in change—a total of 2400 pennies a week.

Nothing Changes Christmas

Much has been written, much has been said about the Christmas season—enough to make anything we could add redundant. And yet, we cannot help but be awed by the fact that despite the commercialization of the great feast, the depravity of the Christmas advertising, and the saccharine sentimentality that is poured upon us each year—despite all these things, the Christmas story still retains its freshness:

"And it came to pass that while they were there, that the days for her to be delivered were fulfilled. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn." (Luke 1, 6-7)

Who's Too Confused?

During recent months the basketball scandal has been in a neck-and-neck race with the Ohio State University "gag rule" for banner-headline space in the nation's newspapers. Perhaps even more startling than the "gag rule" itself have been the strange utterances delivered during speeches on the ruling.

One hair-raising bit of rhetoric came from the lips of columnist Upton Close, who told a convention of Ohio Kiwanians that "professors are men who can't compete in the business world and protect their weakness in academic freedom. Academic freedom to them," said Mr. Close, "means freedom to sponge off the public and freedom to think crooked."

"I would not trust the faculty as a whole," said Mr. Close. They have mischievous instincts and like to do sensational things. There should be a board of deans or selected older men of approved American instincts to make decisions as to who should speak. The average American is too confused to judge for himself."

We will not take the time to stand up to all of Mr. Close's statements—save one: "The average American is too confused to judge for himself."

Perhaps a rule of the deans is necessary to protect the speakers' platform of a University—that is debatable. But if the sentiment of the elders is that "the average American is too confused to judge for himself," then God save the United States! For a man must judge for himself—no one else can judge for him. Man must judge for himself if he wants to go to Heaven—much less participate in a democracy. Freedom of judgment is one of the faculties that differentiates the free man from the slave, the rational man from the brute.

Mr. Close's statement, however, does contain a grain of truth. The average American is confused. Often he does not have the opportunity to judge for himself. If the average American suffers from this "confusion"—whose fault is it? Mr. Close's "mischievous" professors? Or the selected older men of approved American traditions—the deans, the regents, the governors of the nation's universities?

Think this over: less than 10 per cent of the nation's colleges and universities require American History as a requisite for graduation. Perhaps the "selected elder men of approved American traditions" are hiding their ostrich-like heads in the sand. After all, the Declaration of Independence was an extremely controversial document.

An Object Lesson

In its December issue, the Reader's Digest gives Catholics a chance to express their views on artificial birth control: "The Catholic Case Against Margaret Sanger." Aside from its main point, the article reveals some facts significant to those who are being trained as future Catholic leaders.

The Digest quotes a number of "Typical Exerpts from Catholic Publications," which show that despite the fact that the Catholic publications have truth and reason on their side, many of them are nevertheless guilty of breaches of logic and good taste, use of invective and exaggeration, overall low journalistic standards far in excess of their less enlightened opponents. The effect of this on the more than 15,000,000 readers of the Digest, many sincere disciples of Mrs. Sanger and many honestly in doubt, can only be appalling. A neutral observer could not help being prejudiced against the Catholic cause by the well-meaning but tactless defenders of the faith who consider being in the right a license to disregard logic and taste.

Carillon Staff to Spend Vacation With Annual

The members of the 1952 Carillon staff will spend much of their Christmas vacation in continuing their work of assembling a new, different, and distinctive John Carroll yearbook. In all their activities, they aim at a single goal, the publication of the best yearbook in the history of the school.

"The 1952 Carillon will differ greatly from any previous Carroll yearbook," said Peter Carlin, Carillon co-editor. "The layout is completely new and is aimed at capturing the tempo of life at Carroll. The expensive cover is designed in the best modern style and measures up to the highest standards of cover craftsmanship. Much more space has been allotted to clubs, society, and sports."

Strive for Reader Appeal
"Dorm life is extensively covered, and campus scenes are also given due prominence. Provision has been made for a variety of pictures. Throughout the book, emphasis has been placed on material appealing to the students themselves, from freshmen to seniors."

"The staff has already progressed far in its work. The plates of the senior pictures have been prepared by the engravers, and proof pages of the senior section, remarkable for their clarity and sharpness, are in the hands of the staff. Class photos, the football section, the majority of the club pictures, numerous society shots, and several other pictures have been cropped and mounted and were

Urges Student Sale

The price of the 1952 Carillon is three dollars, chargeable to the student's account. Subscriptions can be obtained from staff members or at the Carillon office, room 4 S.E.

"We urge every student to invest in the new Carillon," Carlin concludes.

CARILLON STAFF WORKS toward bigger and better annual. Dick McCaffrey (at typewriter) and Don Farley busy themselves with production of copy. McCaffrey is senior and class editor, while Farley is activities editor.

Forced to Leave School In 5th Grade, Professor Peirola Earned Degrees

"I always had it in my mind to get an education." And get an education he did.

During the 31 years he was forced to work as a cabinetmaker, Mr. James J. Peirola, Assistant Professor of Spanish and Italian at Carroll since 1949, never lost sight of his goal to become a teacher.

From the day when, at the age of 12, he had to drop out of school and take up the cabinet-making trade until the time he got his opportunity to teach, at the age of 43, Professor Peirola kept working and studying toward his objective.

School Ended at Fifth Grade
Born in 1899 in Turin, Province of Piedmont, Italy, Professor Peirola seemed destined to a life of uneducated manual labor. He was forced to leave school in the fifth grade and began to learn cabinetmaking, for family finances were low.

"My father thought that cabinetmaking was a big advancement," says the professor, "and when I told him that I was going to try to be a teacher, he was not very enthused. The philosophy in Europe at that time was that if you were born poor, you should be satisfied to remain poor."

For 12 years Professor Peirola worked as a cabinetmaker during the day and attended school at night. Most of the time his workday was ten hours long. He received his diploma from the Royal Technical Institute in Turin, Italy, in 1923. September of that year saw him leave for America.

Worked in Pittsburgh
Once in this country, he obtained a job in a Pittsburgh furniture factory. After one year, he moved to Warren, Ohio, and worked for two more years in a furniture factory. In 1926, he became a U. S. citizen.

For 14 years, until 1942, he ran his own furniture shop. During his first 17 years in America he supported his mother and young brother, for his father had died.

"Finally in 1942," Professor Peirola says, "my great chance to teach came." He accepted a post as teacher in Warren Public High School, where he taught for four years. During two years of that time, he went to Youngstown College where he earned his A.B. degree.

Soon Will Get Ph.D.
June 12, 1946, he received his A.M. degree from Western Reserve University. Eight days later he began teaching at Carroll. He continued studying during evenings at WRU and will complete his dissertation for a Ph.D. by June of '52.

"I could not enjoy the usual recreations of youth," comments Professor Peirola, "but if I had my life to live over, I would live it the same way because of the happiness I derive now from my teaching. I feel that I can offer my students proof that they should appreciate more the splendid opportunities that our great country offers them."

Married in 1926, Professor Peirola has two sons, Ronald, 23, and Norman, 21. The Peirola family lives at 3273 East Fairfax Rd., Cleveland Heights.

The professor says, "I am so afraid that I will be bragging when I tell you how I had to work for my education." But he is alone in that opinion.

"Job or no job, Smedly,—you don't get into THIS class without a tie!"

Carpenter Builds Grotto For Christ Child's Glory

Probably every Carroll student has noticed, as he sped past in a car or bus, a little grotto nestling into the hillside facing Washington Blvd., a shrine not so publicized as the recently dedicated Bob Beaudry memorial, but one with just as interesting a story behind it.

The Washington Blvd. shrine is the work of Joseph Muller, who has been devoting his evenings and Saturdays to its construction for the past four years. Weekdays, Mr. Muller pursues his occupation of "wood butcher" in his workshop in the boiler house.

Lives on Campus
A quiet, white-haired, cigar smoking man, Mr. Muller came to this country 52 years ago from the mountainous German state of Hessen-Nassau, not far from the Bavarian border. Since 1932 he has worked as a carpenter at Carroll, and since 1939 he has lived with his family at the end of the campus in the frame house that served as parish house for Gesu church before John Carroll University moved out to University Heights.

Mr. Muller hopes to have finished the shrine in another year, "God willing." At present he has completed most of the ten-foot high center of the grotto. When finished, it will contain three groups of statues: at one side the Nativity, with the inscription "Jesus was born for us;" in the middle the Infant Jesus, with the inscription "Jesus lived with us;" and on the other side the Crucifixion, with the inscription "Jesus died for us."

Responds to Vision
The sides of the semi-circular grotto will be filled in with fifteen stations, each representing a decade of the Rosary and containing a painting of one of the mysteries. The stations and the statues will all be connected by a walk.

"I had a dream several years ago," says Mr. Muller, "in which Jesus appeared to me and told me to pray every day to the infant Jesus and to build Him a shrine. In the dream I saw a vision of the finished shrine."

Chi-Club Runs Xmas Special

Today at 4 p.m., a train will pull out of Cleveland's Terminal bound for the "Windy City" of Chicago. There's nothing unusual about that, nothing that is, except for the fact that on that train will be a special car brimming over with eager members of the Chicago Club of John Carroll University, bound for home.

The Chicago Club, the first organization of its kind to be inaugurated on the Carroll Campus, is now in its second year, with a total membership of over seventy. All the members have two things in common: (1) they are all from Chicago, and (2) they all go to Carroll.

Organized Last Year
The idea for the formation of such a group was first considered last year, when the number of student coming to Carroll from various Chicago high schools reached close to the 80 mark. It was then that steps were taken to unite the many into one.

From the outset the Club met with success. Soon plans were made for securing a special rate for members to and from Chicago, and an entire railroad car was secured for the holiday journey.

This year the Club is planning a Christmas party to be held tomorrow evening, Dec. 15, in the "Windy City". All members are making every effort to attend, and the feeling of Christmas and good spirits will undoubtedly prevail.

The Club's annual dance is once again slated for Easter night in Chicago's Sherman Hotel.

Officers of the organization include William Rowley, president, Daniel Boland, vice president, John Fabian, secretary, and Paul Schmidt, treasurer.

CHICAGO CLUB MEMBERS discuss plans for their homecoming in style. Left to right around Jack Martin are Jack Kearney, George O'Callaghan, Ed Kelley, Charley D'Ambrosio, John Heffernan, and Dan Boland. The more than 70 Chicagoans at Carroll will travel home for their vacations in a private railroad car.

In one way or another, the new students always seem to get a line on the tests of the different departments. This year I propose to bring this out into the open by presenting a few prime examples of their examinations.

Fr. Deters Adds Courses, Interest to Night School

BY TERRY OLATTA

At the end of the first floor corridor adjoining the registrar's office there is a door marked "Director of the Evening Division." For the last three years this title has been the private property of the Rev. Richard T. Deters, S.J.

In these three years the Evening Division enrollment has increased by approximately 200 students, a variety of new courses have been added to the curriculum, and extension courses at off-campus stations have been established. Speaking of what he considers the most important accomplishment in his time, Father smilingly remarked, "I've counseled a lot of people." To him, the most important job of his office is to help the students, and they have a prior claim on his time.

Served on Labor Board
Before coming to Carroll Father Deters was active in Labor Relations. He served as the Public Member of the Cleveland Regional War Labor Board from 1943 to 1945.

Promotion of the Evening Division was his first task after taking up his official duties. "We had to let the people of Cleveland know that there was such a thing as a night school at Carroll," he stated. As a result of his efforts there is now a special course being offered for the police force of the city. The patrolmen are studying various phases of political science, English, math, and several similar courses. Also, at Holy Family parish on the West Side there is a class being offered in social problems. Requests have come in from other groups outside the city asking for similar courses.

Favors Two-Year Course
According to Father Deters, "A school should not be judged by the number of courses offered but by the quality of students turned out . . . and the grades they're making." At the present time he's in favor of a two-year certificate program. In his opinion this would give the students something to work for, since in the Evening Division a four-year program drags

Rev. Richard T. Deters, S.J. out for six to eight years.

During the week of January 28, a series of aptitude tests are being given for present and prospective students in the evening division.

Reserve and Carroll Renew Cage Rivalry

Western Reserve will resume athletic rivalry with John Carroll for the first time since the 1946-47 season when cage squads from the two schools clash at Adelbert Gym on Reserves's campus Dec. 21. Reserve broke off relations with Carroll and B-W when they embarked on a more ambitious athletic policy than the Big Four had to offer.

Eddie Finnegan's switch from B-W to his alma mater, Reserve, as Head Football Coach and Athletic Director may help restore the old Big Four of B-W, Case, Reserve, and Carroll. The last basketball meeting between Reserve and Carroll resulted in a 51-45 win for Carroll. The Red Cats have won 16 and lost 8 in the series which began in 1922-23.

Coach Bob Dewey of Western Reserve University will send an underdog five against the Streaks as the Red Cats play host to Carroll. The Cats, who had a record of four wins against 18 losses last year, have not had the rebuilding experienced by the Streaks.

Eight Lettermen Return

Eight returning lettermen will see action but several freshmen are vying for starting positions. Dick Howard, a 6 ft. 6 in. freshman, will be the center. Dewey can also rely on letterman Jack Hinz, 6 ft. 4 in.

A host of lettermen return to the forward positions. Andy Budinak, 6 ft. 6 in., Jack Dawson, 6 ft. 2 in., junior, Dick Everhard, 6 ft. 1 in., senior, and Bob McAndrews, 6 ft. 1 in., junior solve the Cat's Downcourt problem. Captain Joe Henry will start at guard. Henry, 5 ft. 10 in., senior will be aided by freshmen Oscar Griffith, 5 ft. 7 in., Bob Coy, 6 ft. 2 in., or Bob Theiss, 6 ft. 2 in.

Reserve has split their first two games of the season, having downed Fenn 56-54 after Baldwin-Wallace ruined their collegiate opener, 74-67.

Veterans Pace Fine Flyer Crew

BY TOM KRAUSE

Coach Fred George's cagers will face one of their toughest assignments of the season Jan. 12, when they travel downstate to meet practically the same group of Dayton Flyers who last year fought their way into the finals of the National Invitational Tournament before losing to Brigham Young in the championship game.

Meineke Leads Seniors

Smooth-shooting Don Meineke leads the group of Seniors who have compiled an enviable record since their first season of college competition. The others are Forwards Pete Boyle and Chuck Grigsby, and Guards Leland (Junior) Norris, and Gene Joseph. This group notched a 24-8 record as sophomores in 1949, added a 26-6 mark last year, and are expected to do even better this year.

Tall First Team

There is plenty of height in the starting team with Meineke standing 6 ft. 7 in., Grigsby 6 ft. 6 in., Norris 6 ft. 1 in., and Joseph 5 ft. 9 in. Junior Gene Hickey 6 ft. 1 in., is the only player who figures to break into this lineup, and will alternate with Joseph at guard.

Dick (Razor) Campbell, who racked up 243 points last year was Dayton's only notable loss via ineligibility.

Holds Scoring Mark

Meineke rolled up the amazing total of 660 points last season, while Norris scored 374, Grigsby 287, and Boyle 177. Meineke's figure eclipsed the school standard which Don himself had set the previous year when he tallied a mere 510 points. He further distinguished himself by turning in the best field goal-shooting average in the country, 51.2%. His 20.6 average points per game gave him twelfth ranking in that department.

So far this season, the Flyers have dropped one game, an overtime thriller to a strong Louisville squad 79-76. Their victories have been over Berea (Ky.), Evansville, Loyola (South), and Mississippi Southern.

Fenn Five Trowned

Featuring a pair of scrappy guards, a veteran center, two high-scoring forwards and a wealth of capable substitutes, Carroll's varsity cage squad rolled over a green but stubborn Fenn aggregation in a record-breaking 97-61 performance.

Three old standards fell as the Streaks piled up more points than any former squad, the Arena record for personal fouls was surpassed, and a new mark of 44 successful free throws was established.

Senior center Bill Perusek cut loose with 11 points in the first quarter but saw little action after that as Coach Fred George cleared the bench while running his undefeated string in college competition to two games.

The outcome of the battle was never in doubt as Carroll took quarter leads of 28-17, 43-31, and 73-48. The Streaks' fast-breaking racehorse style was too much for the Fenn squad. It was only George Kappos, the perennial Fox stalwart, who brightened things up a little for the Fenn fans. The "Galloping Greek" netted a total of 21 points with his usual variety of phenomenal shots.

Scoring honors for the night, however, went to Carroll's Pat Cullinan, who dunked ten field goals and three charity tosses for a 23-point total. Perusek followed with 17 tallies while George Dalton continued to be a good reason for the freshman eligibility rule with 16 points.

Akron Plays Here Jan. 4

An inexperienced but hard-fighting Akron Zippers squad invades the Arena Friday night, Jan. 4, seeking revenge for last year's 67-64 setback at the hands of the Blue Streaks.

The Zips, in quest of their 16th series triumph against four setbacks, have three returning lettermen ready to battle the rampaging Streaks.

Three Lettermen Return

The three Akronites that were on hand as the University Heights team registered their second of two triumphs last season are co-captains, Guard Bob Horvath and Center Leo Nixon, together with Forward Gene Williams.

Nixon, the only senior on the hoop squad, stands 6 ft. 4 in. tall and weighs 200 pounds. He is regarded as the most improved player on the team. Originally he devoted all his free time to baseball until Coach Russ Beichly requested him to try out for the team. Leo amassed 136 joints for the visitors last season, averaging eight points per game.

Horvath High Scorer

Junior Bob Horvath from Akron Garfield, is a 6 ft. 1 in. hard-driving ball player. This Army vet who made All-City honors in high school basketball, netted 295 points in 23 games last season.

The third and final letterman is 6 ft. 2 in. forward Gene Daniels of Canton, Ohio, a steadily improving player who will maintain a starting assignment with the Rubber team.

Employ Two Platoons

Coach Russ Beichly is an ardent believer in a fresh performing player; therefore, Akron will use the two-platoon system.

The other two likely starters on the first squad will be Don Adey, forward from Akron South, where he was All-City, and Jim Fenton at the other guard post. Fenton was one of the leading scorers on last year's frosh team.

The second five will consist of Ray Clemmons at center, Harry Harkins and Dick Keel at the forward positions, and Ronnie Negray and Ron Sykes at the guard spots. Akron had a 3-20 record last season, gaining victories over Colby, Arizona State, and Mount Union.

DEJECTED GEORGE KAPPOS of Fenn, (16) heads for the wrong dressing room and into the throng of rooters who mobbed the Streaks following their 97-61 win over the Foxes. The spirited group of Carroll men cheered the team to their second victory and a new school scoring record.

Detroit Titans Rated With Country's Finest

The Blue Streaks will have their basketball work cut out for them when they meet the powerful Detroit Titans in the Motor City, Dec. 29. The Titans, who compete in the Missouri Valley Conference, generally recognized as the toughest basketball league in the country, really lived up to their name last year when they defeated both the Bradley Braves and the Aggies of Oklahoma A&M at the time when each was rated the top team in the nation.

This remarkable feat enabled them to finish the campaign with a winning record of 15 wins and 14 losses.

This year the Titans have been rated 12th in the country in Look Magazine's pre-season predictions. Detroit is paced by All-American candidate Norm Swanson, 6 ft. 5 in. center, who scored 362 points last year before becoming scholastically ineligible. Swanson has made up his deficiency and is again eligible this season. In a recent issue of Sport Magazine, he was rated among the top 25 players in the nation.

Two freshmen, 6 ft. 5 in. Guy Sparrow and 6 ft. 4 in. Roger Duddleston, are slated to start at forward for the Titans this season. A pair of veterans hold down the guard positions, Captain Jim Gleason and Wally Poff.

Eight games will be played by the Titans before the Carroll contest, while the Blue Streaks will have met six opponents.

Rockets Fly High

Coach Fred George and his cagers travel to the University of Toledo Field House Jan. 25 to face the Toledo Rockets. In this, the first of their two meetings this season, Carroll will attempt to improve its dismal record against the Toledo Rockets.

The Streaks have lost the last six contests in this series which began in 1928. The overall results show Toledo with 12 victories in the 14 games.

In his fifth year at the helm of the Rockets, Coach Jerry Bush faces the task of rebuilding. Only five lettermen have returned from last season's squad which sported a 22-7 record.

However, Toledo compensates for its lack of experience by an advantage in height. The team averages 6 ft. 2½ in. in height with but one man standing under 6 ft.

Bush will build his club around 6 ft. 9 in. Ralph Carroll, Capt. Phil Morton, Harry Nicholson, Will Russell, and Bob Nichols, all veterans from last season's fine team.

Jerry Miller's SMORGASPORT

Get a firm grip on your emotions! He's back again.

FILLER FROM MILLER:

It has been traditional Carroll News policy to exhume momentarily, the expired, tired, and fired body of the ex-sports editor in order that he might do an encore for the big, big Christmas issue of the News.

Tradition almost came to a screeching halt this year, but, in journalistic jargon, the need for "filler" proved a sufficient compulsion to permit one more serving of the Smorgasport. An uncalled-for attempt to serve up a palatable diet of sports items.

So tuck in your napkins, Froshie, the old timers will tell you that this can get pretty crummy.

BOXING WITH SHADOWS

It has also been traditional for the "Christmas issue" sports editor to look back at the athletic year, and with hindsight born of experienced ignorance in the position, render a conclusive judgement. In the best interests of public relations and a June Sheepskin, however, I have decided to come to grips, not gripe, with that "big hunk of sumphing vot ain't der" called school spirit.

No one seems to be able to define spirit, but everyone knows "when and if" a school has it and everyone agrees that every school should have it—whatever it is. Most everyone will also agree that John Carroll's school spirit "huffed and puffed" during September registration but never did blow the joint down. Even the professors noticed that student occupational fatigue set in early this year—some guys had five cuts the first week.

Concerning the cause, I don't know for nothin. I only get paid a buck-twenty per issue for meals—I'm not a philosopher. However, there are some observations that should be mentioned:

School spirit is a continuous, growing, active thing which must be cultivated. It's not something you turn on and off like the attempt that was made for the Quantic rally. The whole football season was geared to the "big game." The net result was that when we finally did have a rally, the students went into emotional convulsions. The spirit that day was an unnatural, and uncontrollable thing. It was like a new present—you didn't know how to act.

Controlled Spirit

Why not harness and control that spirit. Convocations and rallies before every game, basketball and football, would accomplish that purpose. Admittedly, this is too big a job for the Boosters—they can't do everything—but it could be handled if the responsibility was shared by each activity in the school.

During the spring, when all the schedules have been completed, each game on the athletic sked could be given to a student activity to plan the rally. This would give them plenty of time to plan a unique skit.

Rallies and convocations foster school consciousness. You can't know what the other guy is thinking unless you get together and he tells you, and school spirit can't be fostered unless you get together in mass "tete-a-tetes" and hear the other side of the story.

Convocations and rallies aren't the panacea for S.S., but the boys that congregate and exchange pleasantries nightly at the Mayflower will tell you that a lot of spirit is fostered. At least they'll agree it helps to drink-it-over.

Well! I guess I'll ship out.

Kent Has New Coach

The Blue Streak cagers open the New Year by playing the Kent State Golden Flashes at Kent on Jan. 2. This will be a game coached by two newcomers to collegiate varsity ranks. Both Carroll's Fred George and Kent's Clarence "Bud" Haerr are in their first years as head coaches of their respective schools.

Haerr has had two years experience coaching the freshman team at Kent. Before his appointment as basketball mentor, he was also an assistant backfield coach for the football team for three years. His frosh cagers won 26 and lost only 3 games under his guidance.

One Senior Returning

The only senior on the team, Bob Dilling from Lakewood, a forward, is the captain of the Flashes. The only other returning lettermen are Forwards Larry Grist and Guards Perry Grenfell and Jim Cuppy, all juniors.

Grenfell led the Kent scorers last year with a total of 301 points. He was named to the third string All-Ohio basketball team. Included among the probable starters against the Blue Streaks are Jim Nowakowski and Joe Alvado, the leading scorers of the 1950 freshman basketball team.

Kent, which is a member of the Mid-American Conference, has a total of seven freshmen on the team. These men hold the key to the chances for success of the Golden Flashes.

Tall Penguin Squad At Arena Tonight

The Youngstown College Penguins move into the Cleveland Arena tonight to meet John Carroll in the feature event of a crowded cage card. The visitors thus far have won one and lost one, and will play host to Western Reserve Wednesday, Dec. 12. The Carroll quintet boasts a two-win string.

Youngstown bowed to Baldwin-Wallace at Berea Saturday, Dec. 8, 60-59, but the Penguins came back Monday night, trimming Alliance (Pa.), 80-29. The Streaks have whipped Washington & Jefferson, 59-45, and Fenn College, 97-61.

Stand-outs In Any Crowd

Penguin mentor, Dominic Rosselli, former athlete for Geneva College, at least has height on his side this year, boasting a starting lineup which averages 6 ft. 3 in. Bob Yuhus will hold down the center slot, and will be flanked by Walt Brian and Mike Magula at the forwards.

Magula tallied 381 points during the past season. Guards for the Penguin squad are Sam Jankovich and Cecil Duffett, both of whom are 6 ft. even. Further height is provided by Guards Charlie Craig and Tom Hernan, both towering 6 ft. 6 in.

Previous Season Successful

The Penguins had a successful season last year, garnering 16 victories against seven losses. Highlight of the '50-'51 season for the Steelmen was the 76-73 upset of the Dayton Flyers, runners-up in the N. I. T. last year.

Meet George

George Dalton

"Big George" Dalton is another terrific prospect hailing from wind-blown Chicago.

George, a 19 year-old, 190 pound, 6 ft. 4 in. center of German-Irish extraction has already proved his importance on the varsity, scoring 33 points in Carroll's first two contests, and displaying fine rebounding skill.

Dalton is a graduate of DePaul Academy where he starred in basketball. Some of his distinctions include All-City honors, honorable mention All-State, All-Catholic for two years, and captain of the '51 squad.

George was vice-president of his Senior Class, and was active in a host of clubs and school organizations.

When George helped DePaul capture the Catholic League title of Chicago in 1948 and City Championship of Chicago in 1951, he played both center and forward.

The former Chicago ace is after a degree in Business Administration. After graduation he hopes to go into the advertising business.

His biggest thrill in sports came last season when he stole the ball in the last 10 seconds of the play offs for the City Championship to give DePaul a one point triumph

And Bill

"A basketball player able to play any position well on the court," easily describes the talent of Bill Frett, a 6 ft. 1 1/2 in. German-Irish lad from Chicago.

Bill, a resident of Bernet Hall

Bill Frett

Maulers Pace I-M

Undefeated in three games the Maulers hold down first place position in the Intramural Basketball League. Also boasting clean records are the Little All-American and 204-B with two victories each. Two wins and a loss put the Jaggs third in the standings. Owing one victory and one defeat apiece, the Mafia Five and the Erie Club are deadlocked in fourth place.

In three games the Maulers have scored 226 points. Bill Swanson is the top point getter for the Maulers with 44 markers. Foster Taper has 38 tallies for the league leaders. Ralph Bosch has contributed 34 points to the Mauler's cause.

Jerry Wensinger and Tom Yeager supply the Little All-Americans with their one-two punch. Switching from the gridiron to the court, Pete Ghirla and John Byrne give 204-B plenty of spark. Dom Festa leads the Mafia Five attack while Clayton Szakovits is the big gun of the Toledo five.

Swanson leads the league in scoring but Szakovits who has played in only two games is close behind with 42 points. Jim Curley of the Jaggs has registered 38 markers in two contests.

is 18 years old and tips the scales at 185. He hopes to obtain a BEG degree, majoring in accounting.

While in high school, Frett won three letters in basketball and one as an end on the football team.

His most remembered sport incident happened the year he played football. He fumbled on the five-yard-line while on television.

Besides obtaining an education and playing varsity basketball, Frett serves Mass as an altar boy whenever he gets the chance.

Shields Is Rated Best

Putting a final touch to the 1951 football season, the John Carroll University Alumni Association sponsored the annual football banquet Tuesday, Dec. 4, in the Ball Room of the Hotel Hollenden.

Highlighting the affair was the awarding of trophies to outstanding Streak gridders, together with the keynotes address of Donald C. Miller, United States District Attorney for the Northern District.

Trophies Awarded

Given trophies emblematic of their gridiron achievements were Burrell Shields, Streak of the Week three times during the season, who was chosen as the Most Outstanding Player of the Year by teammates and who was also nominated to the position of honorary Team Captain for the '51 season.

Also nominated to high honors was Freshman John Byrne, Line-man, who was chosen for the title of Outstanding Freshman Player of the Year by Cleveland sportswriters and members of the Carroll grid squad. Byrne's award is to be inscribed upon the John D. Connors Memorial Trophy, given annually to the outstanding freshman grider.

Cagers Play Musketeers

The Blue Streaks will attempt to gain an even split in their cage record against the Xavier Musketeers, traveling to Cincinnati Sunday, Dec. 16, to do battle with the Musketeers in their fieldhouse.

Xavier holds a 2-1 edge in the three games played so far between the two schools. In the 1920-'21 season, the Streaks copied their lone victory in the series by winning 29-17. However, in the 1948-'49 season, the Musketeers dumped the Carroll hoopsters 78-60. The men from Xavier went ahead in the series last year with a 79-56 drubbing of the luckless Blue Streaks.

Mt. Union to Face Streaks

John Carroll's Cagers will encounter the Purple Raiders of Mount Union at the Cleveland Arena Jan. 11. In two starts this season the Purple Raiders have won twice.

Mount Union opened its 51-52 schedule with a 47-38 triumph over Steubenville College, and in like manner downed Denison University, 75-69.

Bill Erlitz, a six foot senior from Chester, West Virginia, leads the Raider's scoring with 35 markers in two contests. Fred Wilch, another six footer, and Erlitz are co-captains of the squad.

Freshman Jim Nace, the pivot man, is the tallest man on the team at six-three. Bob Valente five-eleven, and Rod King, six-two, round out the Mount Union starting five. Erlitz and Valente are the Purple Raiders' only returning lettermen.

It's Up To You

Dorm basketball leagues have been arranged, the courts are free for students to use at the pre-arranged times, and uniforms are being provided by the school.

Student response, however, has not been indicative of the interest that can and should be shown in a program of this type. The loops are being arranged for YOUR pleasure, why not take advantage of them fully?

Our Boys Make Good

After announcing that Carl Taseff, Carroll's own Mr. TD, would be placed on the inactive list to make room for Don Phelps of the Cleveland Browns pro gridders, Coach Paul Brown reversed his decision, and announced recently that Taseff will remain with the Brownies for the last two league games of the year, and thus will be eligible to take part in the championship playoff. 'Tis only fitting!

Don Shula, frosh back for the Browns, a '51 grad of Carroll and teammate of Taseff, is due for honors when the after-the-game statisticians begin to compile the books for the season. His work, mainly on defense, has been of stellar quality throughout the season. Who said that Carroll football was small time?

Streak Record Is Streaked

In the Carroll-Fenn game played at the Euclid Avenue Icehouse last Friday night, Dec. 7, the Streaks shattered their own scoring record for one game, tallying 97 markers against the Fenn Foxes' 63. They missed by six points the official Arena scoring record set by Western Kentucky in 1950 when they trampled Bowling Green, 103-87. In addition, Fenn and Carroll attempted to set fouling records and succeeded in breaking the Arena record for number of foul shots completed in one game, splintering it with 44 successful attempts.

Streaks Are Honored

In its annual listings, the All-Catholic football squad committee named Streaks Burrell Shields and Mario Alemagno to honorable mention slots. They are two of the six Ohio students thus honored.

Closing out the list of Who's Who In Football, The Cleveland News named six Streaks to their All-Big Four offensive and defensive squads. Named to the offensive team were Joe Minor, Jerry Weber, Dick Zoller, and Burrell Shields, while those gaining the nod with the defensive group were John Byrne and Chuck McMillan.

Both Byrne and Shields were recently honored at the annual football banquet, being named Outstanding Freshman Player of the Year and Most Valuable Player and Honorary Team Captain for 1951 respectively.

Lots of Spirit to All

Fred George, varsity basketball coach, and Carroll enthusiast, recently announced the formation of a John Carroll Spirit Club, designed to complement the work of the Carroll Boosters, aiding them by the painting of rally signs, and by instigating stunts to promote student interest and activity regarding the Streak cagers.

In closing the final column for 1951, we'd like to thank all concerned for their generous help in aiding us throughout the past year. We would especially like to thank Bill Stredelman, without whose help this page would have been impossible.

I want to wish all the readers of this column (even if they only read it at Christmas), a very Merry Christmas and a sober New Year.

Play Case At Latin

Seeking revenge for the 74-58 defeat administered by Case Tech's cagers last season, John Carroll's varsity hoop squad will face their local rivals Thursday, Dec. 27, at the Cathedral Latin High School gym.

Case coach "Nip" Heim will field a team with more than enough height, experience, and scoring power. The Streaks will have to shackle such high-scoring threats as 6'5" Center Ed Steigerwald and hotshot Guard Norm Protiva. These two starred last year as the Rough Riders lost but five of sixteen contests and finished second in the district.

Only NAIB semi-finalist Baldwin-Wallace had a better won-lost record in this area. In addition to Steigerwald and Protiva, Guard Lee Schneider and Forward Bob Heaton also were regular starters. Bernie Steigerwald, the center's brother will round out the starting five.

4 Aces Top Keg League

Team standings in the Intramural Bowling League varied slightly as the 4-Aces took over the lead from the Keglers. The 4-Aces have won 13, lost 5, with an aggregate 19 points, while the Keglers have won the nod 12 times and been decisively six, tallying 15 markers in all.

The Keglers led Dec. 6, mapping with wins in two departments. The club was ahead in team-high-singles with 680, and on top in team-high-threes with 1839. Hanson led in both individual high singles and individual high threes garnering 225 and 563 in each respectively. Scheduled to meet in action on the alleys Dec. 13, were the first and second-place groups, the 4-Aces and Keglers in a grudge match for lead position in the league.

Capers Show Success

"CHARLESTON, THE CHARLESTON" was the tune to which Joan Strouse, Margaret Grane, and Mary Jo Spoerl danced the animated fad of the Twenties in the Campus Capers of 1951 held in the University Auditorium Feb. 8 and 9. The show drew a record audience for the two-night stand. Others who starred in the production were Bob Curry, Ray Hils, Noreen McHugh, Nancy Dunn, and Jeff Hewitt. The profits from the show go to the Social Service Commission of NFCCS. Mary Heier authored the Capers while Ray Wiemer served as Dialogue Director and Bob Breiner as Music Director.

Academy Hears Gynn Address

Members of the Scientific Academy heard Thomas Gynn, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, speak on the topic "Genetics of Schizophrenia" at the organization's regular bi-weekly meeting held Thursday, Dec. 13, at 4:30 p.m. in Rm. 166.

The talk embodied a brief explanation of the transmission of general traits from one generation to the next followed by a detailed description of the occurrence of schizophrenia in certain families.

Tentative plans for a joint meeting with the Ursuline College Bio-Chem Club in the near future were announced at the meeting.

Director Speaks

The Rev. Henry F. Birkenhauer, S.J., director of the Seismology Observatory, addressed the General Physics Seminar at Case Institute of Technology on Tuesday Dec. 4. His topic was "The Physics of Earthquakes."

Ernie Delisio. On the whole, Jim figures that not many purchasers are cheated. In fact, he sometimes accidentally slips an extra penny into a pack.

He can console himself with the thought that if his job is not the most exciting in the world, it is one of the oddest.

Picture Brings Dorm Work Sunny Skies

GOOD WEATHER PREVAILED after workers hung a picture of Pope Pius XII in the new dorm.

Employees of the Schirmer-Peterson Co., constructor of the new Carroll dormitory, marveled that wet, cold weather changed to sunny and warmer weather when a picture of Pope Pius XII was placed on the second floor of the building.

Now snow and bitter winds have returned, but from Nov. 28, when the picture was put up, until Dec. 6, unusually nice weather enabled workers to speed up construction.

In the picture above, P. C. Geoghegan (left), general superintendent, and G. J. Hanzely, job superintendent, comment upon the beauty of the picture. Both they and their workers believe that the placing of the picture in the dorm
